ALF LANDON AND JOHN BRICKER HIT

More Than 500 Democrats Attend Big Rally; Durbin and Dies, Texas Solon, Attack Hearst-Block-Wolfe Influence

Enthusiasm and confidence in election of the entire Democratic ticket ran high Friday evening when more than 500 persons, men and women, and a few children, braved a steady downpour to take part in one of the two major party rallies planned prior to the election Nov. 3. It was held in Memorial Hall. The next major meeting will be a torchlight parade on Oct. 30.

The evening's speakers, Congressman Martin Dies of Orange, Texas, substituting for Congressman Lister Hill of Montgomery, Ala., and Francis Durbin of Kenton, drew cheer after cheer from the audience that sat patiently from 8 o'clock until 10:30 o'clock to hear Governor Landon, Attorney General Bricker, the Hearst-Block-Wolfe newspaper interests, and L. P. Mooney "hired" for their efforts to defeat President Roosevelt.

HOOVER ENTERS ELECTION RACE TO AID LANDON

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17 — (UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover was on the campaign firing line on behalf of Gov. Alfred M. Landon's candidacy today. He opened his speaking engagements last night with an attack on President Roosevelt.

White his plans have not been announced, observers expect him to make several more speeches before election day.

He charged the New Deal with "deceitful bookkeeping" and President Roosevelt with "intellectual dishonesty" in his first campaign speech.

The crowd which almost filled the Academy of Music was appreciative for the most part, but one man was ejected for booing. His neighbors hushed him and Mr. Hoover apparently did not notice the incident.

Outside the hall youthful Democratic groups staged a demonstration. Several were dressed as apple vendors, and two sound trucks rolled back and forth. One bore the legend "Princeton Democratic Caravan," and the other "Hoover Go Home."

EX-MANAGER OF PHONE COMPANY DIES IN VILLAGE

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR IS INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Frank Huston, 28, to Face Common Pleas Court for Arraignment

SIX OTHERS CHARGED
Four Cases Ignored After 18 are Questioned

Frank Huston, 28, of 1353 Cary avenue, Columbus, was indicted by the county grand jury Friday afternoon on a manslaughter charge resulting from the automobile collision on Route 23, south, Sept. 27, in which Lawrence Saylor, 18, of Monroe, Mich., was fatally injured.

The indictment charges Huston killed Saylor "unlawfully and intentionally" while driving an automobile "in a state of intoxication and in a reckless manner."

Lawrence Saylor and his brother, Frank, were riding in a car driven by Edward Waldon, also of Monroe. They were returning to their homes after visiting relatives in Kentucky. Huston was driving south on the highway. Waldon told officers Huston swerved into the car he was driving, and he said he could remember the car turning over four times. Huston has been held in the county jail after failing to furnish $2,000 bond.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(UP)—Baldwin & Company, Wall street betting commissioners, today quoted odds of 3 to 1 that President Roosevelt would be re-elected. The odds two weeks ago were 8 to 5 for Roosevelt.

Odds were even on the outcome of the race between the president and Gov. Alfred M. Landon in Pennsylvania, Illinois and New Jersey. In California the betting commissioners quoted odds from 2 1/2 to 1 to 3 to 1 for Roosevelt.

Baldwin & Company said betting activity was still below that of past election years but that it had picked up in recent weeks.

"JUST NASTY," VICTIM SAYS OF TWO ROBBERS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17—(UP)—Leland Cameron said two bandits accosted him, demanding a dollar bill. He gave it to them. They tore it up. He gave them another. They also tore that one to pieces. Then they beat him up. I guess they were just feeling nasty," said Cameron.

SPANISH REBELS MOVE FORWARD IN STEADY DRIVE

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 17—(UP)—Spanish nationalists moved on Madrid today with the sureness of men who feel they can take their time in reaching a goal from which no one can keep them. The leftist troops of the Madrid government were firmer in their defense — for how long, before the blast of airplane bomb, machine gun and artillery, was problematical.

But they were at the last real defense line before the siege of the city begins — at key towns on the highways radiating from Madrid, El Escorial, San Martin Val De Iglesias, Navalcarnero and Illescas. The nationalists moved in slowly. Today they thrust from a new sector. They sent men southeastward from the front west of Madrid, toward Illescas, 20 miles south of the capital on the Toledo highway.

EUROPE AWAITS HITLER'S NEXT RHINELAND ACT

PARIS, Oct. 17—(UP)—France awaited today a move from Germany or Italy, her powerful Nazi-Fascist neighbors, in a diplomatic situation that has become alarming.

There were increasingly persistent reports that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler was going to announce — perhaps today in one of the Saturday bomb-shell speeches for which he has become famous — the formal complete remilitarization of the Rhineland on France's frontier. That he might also announce, in this connection, that he was going to fortify the entire Rhineland, was possible.

It is well known that the Rhineland is remilitarized and it is taken for granted that fortifications are being built in secret. But this knowledge, and belief, would detract nothing from the sensation that would be caused by a formal announcement to the world.

Premier Benito Mussolini, openly restive at his isolation from the political situation because of his war on Ethiopia, was expected to become active within a few days.

JURORS ADVISE NEW PAINT FOR COUNTY'S JAIL

Grand jurors, in their report Friday afternoon, recommended to the county commissioners the interior of the jail be painted.

BORAH REFUSES TO TAKE STUMP AGAINST F. D. R.

EMMETT, Ida., Oct. 17 — (UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, Idaho's dean of the U. S. Senate, insisted in a speech last night that "there is room under the Republican flag for a member of that party to give credit where credit is due" in announcing he would not join in an attack on the New Deal.

"There seems to be in the minds of some an impression that I have not been sufficiently vigorous in my attack on the New Deal. It seems to be the opinion that I should condemn it as a whole — condemn its motives, its objective — those very things I supported," Borah said.

"I have not criticized and I shall not criticize those things, because I was acting in accordance with my best judgment. For me to go out in this state and denounce measures which I supported would be an act of perjury."

"I am living according to my convictions, and if I know anything of Republicanism, it places the principles of patriotism above those of partisan politics."

"I think there is room under the Republican flag for a member of that party to give credit where credit is due, and still remain a member of the party."

Borah is campaigning for reelection to the senate.

WellPaid "Slave"

IN COURT in London, where British barristers battled over her film contract, Bette Davis, Hollywood actress, heard herself described as a "naughty young lady who was flattered by the bribe of a higher salary." The description was made by Sir Patrick Hastings, representing Warner Bros., who have her under contract. Hastings ridiculed the idea that Miss Davis was undergoing a "form of slavery" by working for a producer which, he said, had advanced her salary from $400 to $3,000 weekly since 1931. The injunction hearing was to decide whether Miss Davis was legally under contract to Warners or whether she was entitled to make a film for a British company in England.

In traffic safety will be introduced later and developed with the cooperation of such organizations as the Congress of Parents and Teachers, the American Legion, the grange, the Ohio farm bureau and agricultural extension offices.

Mrs. Ethel Peters Simon, representing the state congress of parents and teachers, announced that her organization would co-operate wholeheartedly in the development of the program but would not participate in the preparation of the safety course of study.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS TO SEE CHICAGO-OHIO GAME

Students recently disappointed because they did not receive the promised tickets for the N. Y. U. Ohio State football game are compensated for their patience.

E. E. Reger received the following letter from Ohio State explaining the ticket shortage:

Dear Mr. Reger:
We are enclosing herewith your application and remittance made for the High School game Saturday, October 3. We regret that this action had to be taken but it would have been foolhardy to do otherwise.

May we thank you for accepting the situation as it was and not insisting on bringing your party to the game. If two or three hundred more people would have come seeking admittance, we would have had a most undesirable situation.

We have a 25 cent admission for children on Saturday, October 24, when we play Chicago. If you would care to reorganize your group into a traveling squad for either of these two games, we should be glad to see that you are taken care of at the same price of 25 cents.

May we express our appreciation for your interest in this event and the hope that you may be able to take advantage of one of the two dates offered.

Yours very truly,
Ohio State University
Athletic Assn.
By Henry D. Taylor
Director of Tickets Sales.

On November 7 advantage will be taken of the opportunity mentioned in the letter and a group from the high school will attend the game to be played with Chicago on that day.

FOOTBALL

It is generally acknowledged that a certain amount of physical exercise is advisable if one wishes to enjoy good health. With the present advanced civilization, living conditions are such that few people get sufficient exercise in their daily routine; therefore it is necessary that many become interested in one or more artificial exercises.

There are many games which provide delightful recreation and healthful exercise; basketball, baseball and golf are such familiar and popular sports. Football is probably the best for physical development. It brings into play practically every muscle of the body. Not only does it engage the physical side of the participant, but the mental phase also receives its share of duties both in practices and in games.

Football today is being conducted in such a manner that one's mind may be called upon to solve several problems during the course of a single play. Few spectators, while watching a football game, realize that each player has his particular duties for each play. This is also the case when one is playing on the defense. Every player must know the down, amount of yardage to be gained, what play to expect—or in other words—read the mind of the opposing quarterback.

The team work developed in such a group is another factor that must not be overlooked. The eleven young men on a football field during a game are working as a group and not as individuals. If a single man fails to carry out his assignment a weakness presents itself and in many cases an entire team suffers defeat of one error on the part of one player.

Last, but by no means least, being a growing boy's energy and vitality into wholesome channels. It causes him to realize that he must keep himself fit at all times, physically and mentally, so that when he is called upon to perform he is ready; and still more important, it instills in him a sense of honor or to the group, knowing that only when all pull together is victory in sight.

'SNAKE' DANCE HELD THURSDAY TO HERALD GAME

With approximately 150 pupils of the high school and eighth grade in procession a snake dance got on its way Thursday evening at 7:30 at the high school building marching down Court street, yelling and cheering down the way.

The yells and cheers of the group under the supervision of Ruby Chaffin, cheerleader, could be heard for a long distance in the downtown district of the city. Virgil Cress and Coach Landrum accompanied the group as representatives of the faculty.

It has been more than a year since the high school has enjoyed a rally of this nature.

The pupils give a vote of thanks to Mayor Graham for permitting this rally to proceed through the streets with police protection.

STOOGES PLAN GRID BANQUET END OF SEASON

A regular meeting of the Stogie club was held at the home of Millard Good last Tuesday evening, October 14.

The boys may try something new and different for Circleville high this year. If plans work out, they will give a football banquet at the end of the season.

The club is very enthusiastic over this idea although nothing definite has been decided.

HOBBY GROUPS ORGANIZE FOR ACTIVE SEASON

Tuesday the Senior Girl Reserve club met and organized for the year. The girls voted to buy blue ties to complete the Girl Reserve uniform of a dark blue skirt and a white blouse. These costumes are to be worn by the club members to each meeting.

Two hobby groups — the Nature and Handicraft and the Variety — were organized. Each girl joined the one which most interested her, thereby dividing the club into social sections. These groups hold their meetings in the homes of members each week. At these gatherings many interesting and informing projects will be completed by the girls during the school year. At each weekly joint meeting a representative from each hobby group gives a report upon the project which is being completed by her group.

Miss Priest and Mrs. Landrum were chosen as the advisors of the Variety groups, which subdivided. Rosemary Metzger was elected president; Eleanor Radcliffe, vice president; Marjorie Westenhaver, secretary-treasurer of Section 1 of the Variety group. The officers of the second section are Wah-nita Barnhart as president; Betty Lee Nickerson, first vice president; Charlotte Cook, secretary; Jean Lucas, treasurer.

Mrs. Cress was selected to become the leader of the International group. The members of this section have decided upon a different plan of officers — that of a roving chairman. The girl who is hostess to the group bi-monthly becomes the chairman of the meeting. Under this plan each member officiates at least one meeting during the year. This group will hold its first meeting on Monday night, October 19, at the home of Harriet Harmon, with Harriet McGath acting as the assistant hostess.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS TO SEE CHICAGO-OHIO GAME

Students recently disappointed because they did not receive the promised tickets for the N. Y. U. Ohio State football game are compensated for their patience.

E. E. Reger received the following letter from Ohio State explaining the ticket shortage:

Dear Mr. Reger:
We are enclosing herewith your application and remittance made for the High School game Saturday, October 3. We regret that this action had to be taken but it would have been foolhardy to do otherwise.

May we thank you for accepting the situation as it was and not insisting on bringing your party to the game. If two or three hundred more people would have come seeking admittance, we would have had a most undesirable situation.

We have a 25 cent admission for children on Saturday, October 24, when we play Chicago. If you would care to reorganize your group into a traveling squad for either of these two games, we should be glad to see that you are taken care of at the same price of 25 cents.

May we express our appreciation for your interest in this event and the hope that you may be able to take advantage of one of the two dates offered.

Yours very truly,
Ohio State University
Athletic Assn.

By Henry D. Taylor
Director of Tickets Sales.
On November 7 advantage will be taken of the opportunity mentioned in the letter and a group from the high school will attend the game to be played with Chicago on that day.

FOOTBALL

It is generally acknowledged that a certain amount of physical exercise is advisable if one wishes to enjoy good health. With the present advanced civilization, living conditions are such that few people get sufficient exercise in their daily routine; therefore it is necessary that many become interested in one or more artificial exercise.

There are many games which provide delightful recreation and healthful exercise; basketball, baseball and golf are such familiar and popular sports. Football is probably the best for physical development. It brings into play practically every muscle of the body. Not only does it engage the physical side of the participant, but the mental phase also receives its share of duties both in practices and in games.

Football today is being conducted in such a manner that one's mind may be called upon to solve several problems during the course of a single play. Few spectators, while watching a football game, realize that each player has his particular duties for each play. This is also the case when one is playing on the defense. Every player must know the down, amount of yardage to be gained, what play to expect—or in other words—read the mind of the opposing quarterback.

The team work developed in such a group is another factor that must not be overlooked. The eleven young men on a football field during a game are working as a group and not as individuals. If a single man fails to carry out his assignment a weakness presents itself and in many cases an entire team suffers defeat of one error on the part of one player.

Last, but by no means least, belonging to a football squad directs a growing boy's energy and vitality into wholesome channels. It causes him to realize that he must keep himself fit at all times, physically and mentally, so that when he is called upon to perform he is ready; and still more important, it instills in him a sense of honor to the group, knowing that only when all pull together is victory in sight.

'SNAKE' DANCE HELD THURSDAY TO HERALD GAME

With approximately 150 pupils of the high school and eighth grade in procession a snake dance got on its way Thursday evening at 7:30 at the high school building marching down Court street, yelling and cheering down the way.

The yells and cheers of the group under the supervision of Ruth Robinson, cheerleader, could be heard for a long distance in the downtown district of the city.

Virgil Cress and Coach Landrum accompanied the group as representatives of the faculty.

It has been more than a year since the high school has enjoyed a rally of this nature.

The pupils gave a vote of thanks to Mayor Graham for permitting this rally to proceed through the streets with police protection.

STOOGES PLAN GRID BANQUET END OF SEASON

A regular meeting of the Stooge club was held at the home of Millard Good last Tuesday evening, October 14.

HOBBY GROUPS ORGANIZE FOR ACTIVE SEASON

Tuesday the Senior Girl Reserve club met and organized for the year. The girls voted to buy blue ties to complete the Girl Reserve uniform of a dark blue skirt and a white blouse. These costumes are to be worn by the club members to each meeting.

Two hobby groups—the Nature and Handicraft and the Variety—were organized. Each girl joined the one which most interested her, thereby dividing the club into social sections. These groups hold their meetings in the homes of members each week. At these gatherings many interesting and informing projects will be completed by the girls during the school year. At each weekly joint meeting a representative from each hobby group gives a report upon the project which is being completed by her group.

Miss Priest and Mrs. Landrum were chosen as the advisors of the Variety groups, which subdivided. Rosemary Metzger was elected president; Eleanor Radcliff, vice president; Marjorie Westenhaver, secretary-treasurer of Section 1 of the Variety group. The officers of the second section are Wah-nita Barnhart as president; Betty Lee Nickerson, first vice president; Charlotte Cook, secretary; Jean Lucas, treasurer.

Mrs. Cress was selected to become the leader of the International group. The members of this section have decided upon a different plan of officers—that of a roving chairman. The girl who is hostess to the group bi-monthly becomes the chairman of the meeting. Under this plan each member officiates at least one meeting during the year. This group will hold its first meeting on Monday night, October 19, at the home of Harriet Harmon, with Harriet McGath acting as the assistant hostess.

The Spoken and the Written Word ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scriptures—Acts 17:1-15; I Thess. 2:1-12.

From the city of Philippi Paul and Silas traveled a hundred miles westward to Thessalonica. Here for three weeks they preached and taught the gospel publicly with the result that many believed, but others persecuted them.

Soon after Paul left Thessalonica he wrote two letters to his friends there. He told them with what love he had preached the gospel to them and encouraged them to be faithful to the Lord unto the end.

From Thessalonica Paul and Silas traveled forty miles westward to Berea, where again they preached the gospel in the public assembly. Here the people listened with open minds and then searched the scriptures to verify.

There were both success and sorrow for Paul as he left Berea for the sea to set sail for Athens. Some believed and others persecuted. Results depend upon whether word is received with open mind, (GOLDEN TEXT—Hebrews 4:12)

Hebrews 4:12—"The word of God is living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword."

The Spoken and the Written Word "BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 18 is Acts 17:1-15 and I Thessalonians 2:1-12, the Golden Text being Hebrews 4:12, "The Word of God is living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword.")

THE WORD of God as preached and taught by Paul and Silas at Thessalonica and Berea justifies the definition given it in our Golden Text. Its life and power were so transforming as to appear revolutionary, so that Paul's enemies unmittingly paid the missionaries the compliment of lodging against them with the civil authorities the charge, "These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also."

Salesmen for Christ
They handed the word of God as a salesman handles his sample case to sell his wares. The record of their ministry at Thessalonica says that "for three sabbath days they reasoned with them from the scriptures, opening and alleging that it behooved the Christ to suffer, and to rise again from the dead; that this Jesus whom I proclaim unto you, is the Christ."

Paul reasoned with them, opening their scriptures and setting things forth. He matched Old Testament prophecies of the man of sorrows with the story of the cross and resurrection to convince his hearers that the Messiah of prophecy was the Savior whom he preached as Lord and King. Paul's method of "opening" the scriptures was identical with the method Jesus himself used with two disciples on the afternoon of his resurrection day, and the result of Thessalonica was the same as at Emmaus, viz: "Hearts burned within while he opened to them the scriptures." The result is ever the same where there is open-minded and open-hearted reception of the opened word of God.

Berean Bible Study Method
From Thessalonica Paul and Silas fled by night under persecution to the out-of-the-way place of Berea. These Bereans forever stand as an ideal for Bible students. Luke described their technique thus: "Now these were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, examining the scriptures daily, whether these things were so." They gave open-minded reception to the Bible message. Then they applied to what they heard a noble spirit of inquisitiveness to verify for themselves the teaching by searching the scriptures. They "checked up" on the preacher by matching what they heard with what their Bible said. They were not satisfied to hear the gospel; each man must make that gospel "my gospel". The substance of Paul's faith must be heard with open mind, meditated upon, inwardly digested and assimilated as their own. No wonder we read the results of such hearing of the word: "Many of them therefore believed."

Teaching in Love
If the Bereans are the pattern for the pew, Paul is the pattern for the pulpit. Here is his example in courage: "We waxed bold in our God, to speak unto you the gospel of God in much conflict . . . not as pleasing men, but God, who proveth our heart . . . neither at any time using words of flattery, nor a cloak of covetousness, nor seeking glory of men." Here is his example of love like that of a

RETURN OF THE PIANO
IMPENDING for some time, the return of the piano as nucleus of family life has definitely come. And how welcome it is. The size of the instrument may have undergone a condensation co-equal with the tendency to small homes, but the right direction of the movement is unquestioned. There has been too much "canned" music in family life.

Years ago the piano and the hearthstone alike were symbols of domesticity. Around the piano gathered the family, whether the individuals exponent of the art was a master or not. The old square type lent itself commodiously to centralization. Some of the prosperous could boast of a grand, but such possessors were a bit grand themselves. The old square in the parlor was the basis of co-operation and its successor was the upright, later supplanted by the baby grand. The new piano is a marvel of concentration, but no less an incitement to musical effort.

EDUCATED

WHAT has education done for America? For one thing it has placed among every 1,000 of adult Americans 23 college graduates and 125 high school graduates. The chances of a boy or girl going to college have increased since 1900 from one in 1933 to one in six. And the chances of going to high school have increased since 1890 from one in 25 to one in two. This has been accomplished at a present cost of 10 cents per day for every person of voting age in the United States.

MICHIGAN FIGHT CONFLICT
DETROIT—The Michigan political battle gives some indication of what this country may be in for a few years hence—increasing conflict of interest between the rural and city populations.

The question of who will carry Michigan simmers down to whether the farmers in rural districts can carry the state for Landon or industrial labor in the cities can carry it for Roosevelt.

BUSINESS BOOM

It may or may not be the result of the New Deal, but business throughout Michigan is booming as almost never before. Automobile plants, the backbone of the state, working night shifts.

COAT-TAIL CANDIDATES

Most colorful politicians in Michigan are Frank ("Dew and Sunshine") Murphy, former High Commissioner of the Philippines, and Senator Arthur Vandenberg, referred to by introducers at political rallies as "our future President."

Murphy resigned his glamorous job in the Philippines to help carry the state for the Democrats, but he is now running behind. If he is elected Governor it will be hanging on to Roosevelt's coat-tails.

Senator Vandenberg is not running for office—unless it be that of "future" President—but he is staging a lusty campaign. The Republicans, incidentally, had to use a little persuasion to draft Arthur. Not at all enthusiastic over Landon, he did not want to campaign at all. But now that he has been pushed into it, Arthur is the best haranguer in the state.

RETURN OF THE PIANO
IMPENDING for some time, the return of the piano as nucleus of family life has definitely come. And how welcome it is. The size of the instrument may have undergone a condensation co-equal with the tendency to small homes, but the right direction of the movement is unquestioned. There has been too much "canned" music in family life.

Years ago the piano and the hearthstone alike were symbols of domesticity. Around the piano gathered the family, whether the individuals exponent of the art was a master or not. The old square type lent itself commodiously to centralization. Some of the prosperous could boast of a grand, but such possessors were a bit grand themselves. The old square in the parlor was the basis of co-operation and its successor was the upright, later supplanted by the baby grand. The new piano is a marvel of concentration, but no less an incitement to musical effort.

One piano maker hit the nail on the head when he said the piano was "what the public wanted." It has wanted it, and now it has it again. Of course the radio has its place, too, but even a Hofmann or a Padrewski, canned with most delicate flavor, is after all not the daughter of the family, even though she makes occasional mistakes in her confident accompaniments. At any rate the family is not too particular. There is a sense of well-being in the air. The "crowd" is coming around again. Around the piano.

EDUCATED
WHAT has education done for America? For one thing it has placed among every 1,000 of adult Americans 23 college graduates and 125 high school graduates. The chances of a boy or girl going to college have increased since 1900 from one in 1933 to one in six. And the chances of going to high school have increased since 1890 from one in 25 to one in two. This has been accomplished at a present cost of 10 cents per day for every person of voting age in the United States.

As a result of this extension of educational advantages there are thousands of men and women who are better able to support themselves and their dependents, who are better qualified to vote intelligently, who are better able to govern themselves and to help others govern themselves and who are producing more for the comfort, happiness and security of all.

Neither a college nor a high school education is a guarantee of financial success or mental maturity. Education can do nothing for some people. But education has never hurt anyone, although it has been accused of many crimes.

MICHIGAN FIGHT CONFLICT
DETROIT—The Michigan political battle gives some indication of what this country may be in for a few years hence—increasing conflict of interest between the rural and city populations.

The question of who will carry Michigan simmers down to whether the farmers in rural districts can carry the state for Landon or industrial labor in the cities can carry it for Roosevelt.

So far it has been a fifty-fifty race, with Roosevelt, in the last few weeks, registering a one or two point lead.

It is nothing to risk too much money on, but if elections were held today, Roosevelt probably would win.

BUSINESS BOOM
It may or may not be the result of the New Deal, but business throughout Michigan is booming as almost never before. Automobile plants, the backbone of the state, working night shifts.

Naturally both political parties are attempting to use this to their own advantage. Democrats claim the revival was brought about by Roosevelt. Republicans claim it was a natural pick-up and warn labor that if Landon is not elected the boom will evaporate.

The farmers are inclined to believe the Republicans, and Labor is inclined to believe the Democrats.

COAT-TAIL CANDIDATES

Most colorful politicians in Michigan are Frank ("Dew and Sunshine.") Murphy, former High Commissioner to the Philippines, and Senator Arthur Vandenberg, referred to by introducers at political rallies as "our future President."

Murphy resigned his glamorous job in the Philippines to help carry the state for the Democrats, but he is now running behind. If he is elected Governor it will be hanging on to Roosevelt's coat-tails.

Senator Vandenberg is not running for office—unless it be that of "future" President—but he is staging a lusty campaign. The Republicans, incidentally, had to use a little persuasion to draft Arthur. Not at all enthusiastic over Landon, he did not want to campaign at all. But now that he has been pushed into it, Arthur is the best haranguer in the state.

Murphy, former Mayor of Detroit, and famous as a gouger of automobile manufacturers in order to feed depression breadlines, is immensely popular in Detroit, but not in the rest of the state. Furthermore he is a Catholic, and never before has a Catholic been Governor of Michigan.

With his usual forthrightness, Murphy himself injected the religious issue into the campaign. Speaking at Port Huron, he said:

"I do not want to be voted for because of my religion. Neither do I want to be voted against for the same reason. The President of the United States, a Protestant, appointed me, a Catholic, to rule over a nation of 15,000,000. I do not believe I will suffer in the State of Michigan because of my religion."

making fifty, and on a black and wet pavement at that.
A quick lunch at the Mecca where saw no familiar faces, the noon hour having long past. About the ville to hear only comment on and conjecture about the coming big exhibition. There goes Karl Herrmann, who last night conducted that interesting inter-city session of Rotary, and here comes a group of Democratic leaders discussing last-minute plans for the big Democratic rally of the evening. Know one of the speakers very well, Francis Durbin with whom have fought for and against on many occasions, remaining good personal friends through it all. FLOWERS AT HER FEET

By MARIE BLIZARD
COPYRIGHT: RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

Here is Kim. I'm giving him back to you. Because Kim wasn't a book or a flower. Kim was a man who knew his own mind. Alex thought he did. Helen Preston didn't agree with her. Kim's mother had never met Alex; she'd been in Europe during the winter and spring. She'd heard enough of the girl from Kim and Kathleen, believed her to be the mutual friend of both. Then Kim had greeted her at the boat saying casually, "Mother, I want you to ask Alex Carey to dinner as soon as you can."

And she had answered, "Why?" "Because I'm going to marry her and I think you two ought to meet." She said she would and sent for Kathleen.

Helen Preston was only 18 years older than her son. She was the Whistler type of mother. She was only 44 and looked 35. Her point of view was as modern as her clothes. She was Kathleen's first cousin.

Kathleen found her in her dim drawing room, issuing orders to a household staff, answering the telephone, opening, reading and throwing away the accumulated post.

"Why the hurried call to me, Cousin Helen? It looks as though you had plenty to do without me around today."

"Umm," Helen said and gave Kathleen a glance that saw more than you'd think in one so short. "How was Paris?"

"Lovely. There are no Americans there now. But Venice, my dear! After waiting all my life to see Venice, the only time I could stand it was in the moonlight."

"I may go over this summer," Kathleen said slowly.

Helen Preston wheeled around in her chair, "That will be all, Katie. You can go now and you, Hans. She dismissed her servants. She left her desk and went over to sit on the divan with Kathleen.

"Tell me about it," Kathleen said.

"Do you take sugar, Kathleen?" Helen poured fragrant tea while she chattered. "It was very exciting. I saw King Edward and Barbara Hutton. She's lovely! They weren't together, of course. I bought two wretched frocks in Paris and went on a mad cruise to Dalmatia. Kathleen, what's this nonsense about Kim marrying this Alex Carey person?"

Her question came so unexpectedly Kathleen was not prepared for it. Her cup rattled against its china saucer held by a hand that shook unaccountably.

"It isn't nonsense, Cousin Helen," she said quietly.

"It is to me," Helen answered shortly.

"In the first place, she isn't an Alex Carey person. She's a gentleman and a friend of mine."

"Really?" her cousin asked with lifted brows.

"Why should you doubt it?" Helen drained her cup and said, "Simply that I didn't believe, even today, that very good friends appropriated each other's men." "She didn't, after all. It was just one of those things. Apparently they fell in love which isn't so unusual. And she didn't take him away from me."

"Oh, yes, she did, my dear girl. Kathleen, I've known you since you were a baby. I know you as well as my own son—better because you are a woman. I know as well as you do what is in your heart. I've known ever since you were six years old that you've been in love with Kim."

"Oh, please, Cousin Helen, don't!" "Why not?" that lady asked reasonably. "I didn't ask you to come here to weep on my shoulder or for any reason of idle curiosity. I asked you here because I want to protect Kim's happiness. I happen to think you are the one to do it."

"Listen," Kathleen leaned forward earnestly, "Alex is lovely. She's as intelligent and well-bred as she is attractive to look at. You'll like her. I . . . I didn't know that she was in love with Kim but she must have been because she would never marry him unless she meant to make him happy."

"What about Kim?" "Kim was fascinated from the moment he met her. Kim is poetic, romantic, he couldn't have helped being in love with her. I want them to be happy."

"You hit the nail right on the head! 'Fascinated' is what he was. I don't like to say this about my own son, Kathleen, but I know him; he is like his father—loves only when he is deeply loved. You are the only person who could ever love him that way and your unswerving love all these years has bound him to you. I want Kim to marry you."

Kathleen smiled a drawn little smile. "Cousin Helen, invite Alex to dine with you. You'll want to mother her. You'll see."

"I never wanted to mother anyone," Helen said not quite truthfully.

She didn't want to mother Alex but she did like her, saw the wistful quality that had drawn her son, was delighted with Alex's humor but she didn't want her to marry Kim because she wanted Kathleen for Kim and for herself.

Their dinner was gay—they had had a cocktail before—and conversation flowed easily and sparkled with enthusiasm.

Then Helen Preston said, "Well, Alex, do you think you'll like us when you and Kim are married?"

Suddenly Alex discovered what she was going to do.

"Kim and I aren't going to be married, Mrs. Preston."

Kim might not have been there at all while Alex and Helen exchanged an understanding glance.

"But you are going to marry me," Kim said when they were alone. "You've given me your promise and I'm not going to let you off. His angry eyes didn't leave hers while he said it. His voice was surprisingly cold and brittle.

DIET AND HEALTH

Here's a Good Diet for Underweight Folk

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE PRINCIPLES of this diet for thin and undernourished persons are just the opposite of those for the reduction diet. The important thing is to eat more of every thing, the patient being urged to force his appetite, just as the overweight is urged to curb his appetite. Both are hard to do. The thin person who is urged to eat more usually fears the extra food will not be digested. But this need not be a source of worry. Nature has wide powers of adjustment and when it has to, the digestive system can do all the extra work required.

A good way to make these people eat more is to change the whole system of the household meals—do not give them anything they have been accustomed to.

The most stimulating foods to nutrition are milk and eggs. They are the foods growing animals live on. Milk is usually easy to take, even if the appetite is fickle, because it is a liquid and can be gulped down quickly. It is not a highly concentrated food, but the addition of extra cream greatly increases its nourishing value. An egg-nog with the yolk and white of the egg separated and beaten up and added to the milk-cream mixture with a little sherry wine, is a combination which contains about 400 calories.

What Diet Includes
The diet should also include meat, fish, chicken, etc., in liberal quantities. These articles also have a stimulating effect on nutrition. Also cereals which have a high nutritive value. Fruits and vegetables must be included, especially potatoes. Bread with plenty of butter—the bread or toast being more the medium for plenty of butter than anything else. Desserts, jams and jellies are allowed in liberal quantities.

Just as the overweight patient has to exercise, the underweight has to rest. To lie down for an hour after each meal will do more to put on weight and strength than any other thing. If in the stress and strain of a workaday life an hour is too much, take as large a part of it for rest as you can. It is surprising how easy it is for anyone to arrange a half hour or 15 minutes in the course of the day. By rest, I mean lying down in full relaxation on a couch, bed or sofa.

This plan is valuable also for the convalescent from a surgical operation or a prolonged illness of any kind.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clending can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA
Gary Cooper, the screen's most famous soldier-of-fortune, will be seen in his favorite role when "The General Died at Dawn," a Paramount picture of adventure romance and intrigue in modern war-torn China, open Sunday at the Cliftona theatre.
Having already established himself as filmdom's outstanding portrayal of romantic adventure roles in the French Foreign Legion, the Bengal Lancers and the Italian and American armies Cooper now comes to the screen as a roving soldier-of-fortune in modern war-torn China.
Appearing opposite him is beautiful blonde Madeleine Carroll in the role of the lure put out by a scheming war-lord to trap Cooper. This is an entirely new role for Miss Carroll who has already captivated America despite her few appearances before the camera. Akim Tamiroff, famed for his portrayals of sinister roles, is cast in the role of the ruthless war-lord.
The producers of "The General Died at Dawn" were determined to recapture the magnitude and significance of modern China, a popular uprising against oppression without a parallel in history. To accomplish the Clifford Odets, brilliant young playwright whose works have caused a sensation for their startling reality and rigid adherence to fact, was assigned to write the screenplay. Lewis Milestone directed the picture.

Dinner Stories
The rules of the contest board of the American Automobile association provide that racing cars shall be equipped with a motor-driven reverse mechanism and two independently operated sets of brakes.
Although the frigatebird, which inhabits the tropical seas is said to be the swiftest flying bird, it is believed that the American canvas-back duck can fly 200 miles an hour.
In a recent experiment, it was found that the average weight of women's clothing was two and one-half pounds and of men's eight and one-half pounds.
Mineral constituents of milk that are especially important to the body are phosphorus, iron and lime.
There are approximately 48,000 automobile dealers in the United States.
The practice of applying lime to soils to increase crop yields has been more or less common in the United States since Colonial days.
The total brightness of the moon has been estimated as equal to a 100 candle-power lamp at a distance of 22 yards.
The 13 spokes in the spinning wheel, emblem of the D. A. R., represent the 13 original United States.
Broadcloth makes it appearance bordered and flowered with velvet, and uses tiny rhinestone buttons as a back trim.

AT THE GRAND
Practical Jokes on movie sets have always been of the hardy variety, but Guy Kibbee thinks chasing people around with tractors is going a bit too far.
Unless you're acquainted with small, lively tractors which can turn on a dime, and also with the players Joe E. Brown and Director Raymond Enright assembled for the filming of the First National picture, "Earthworm Tractors", which comes to the Grand theatre on Sunday, you can't fully appreciate Guy's quails.
Joe himself isn't adverse to bronco-busting a tractor around and chasing you with it. Another stunt, according to Guy, is to bury a thin rope just under the surface of the ground.
AT THE CIRCLE
"Dear Old Hollywood," said Robert Benchley, softly, huskily.

Cheyenne, Wyo.
Oct. 7, 1936

Dear Father and Mother:
I am going to write more often than I have been. I will tell you about our trip into the different countries, mountains and farms.

In New York we felt lost because there were so many automobiles, trucks and buses passing. There are nearly eleven million people in New York today. On the streets we heard babies crying and children shouting.

The Atlantic coastal plains is soft, level ground beside the ocean. It is very fertile.

In Pittsburgh, there are less buildings and people. The mines in this district are known for their coal supply.

There are many oil wells in and about Philadelphia. This is where many tanks of oil are from.

In the cornbelt region, we found corn, corn, corn and stock, stock, stock. There were thousands of acres of corn and the stock was as fat as butter.

The Lincoln highway was built twenty miles from Chicago because of so many stop lights.

Omaha is not as large as New York City, but very interesting. As we travel through the wheat belt, it becomes warmer and warmer. We stopped and asked one of the farmers why they didn't raise wheat and he said it was too hot. At the Great Central Plains we saw fruits and vegetables in fields and cattle grazing.

And here we are in Cheyenne, where it is very pretty. There are many animals in the parks, such as bears, deer, and elephants.

These things have made a very pleasant trip and a wonderful time. Yours truly,

Joan Brinker.

BEXLEY DEFEATS TIGERS 13 TO 0; CONTEST PLAYED DURING STEADY RAIN

HERBST, MILLER BREAK THROUGH LINE TO SCORE

Tallies Come in First and Fourth Sessions on Local Gridiron

LOCAL CHANCES WASTED

Henry, Arledge Shine for Landrum's Squad

Bexley gridders proved better "mudders" than did Jack Landrum's Tigers, Friday afternoon, and the Blue Lions, who resembled muskrats more than football players after the first few plays of the game, returned home victors, 13 to 0, in a Central Buckeye league game.

Carlton Smith's youths scored in the first and fourth periods, Herbst breaking over the Tiger left tackle and running 34 yards for the first six-point, and Miller breaking through the same spot from mid-field in the last session. Hogan placed the first extra point, but missed the second.

The Tigers threatened only once, that being in the fourth quarter with the score only 7-0 against them. Done Henry made a pretty return of a punt to the 31-yard line to start the drive. A first down was made by inches, to carry the ball to the 20-yard stripe, but only four yards could be made in the next four plays.

Penalty Damaging
Another chance was wasted late in the game when Referee Wise called Good for fouling the kicker after a Bexley punt went out short. The Tigers would have had the ball deep in Bexley territory, but the penalty took the leather back where it started.

With the exception of the Bexley ends, Hogan and Brooks, who went to a flank from tackle shortly after the game started, the two teams were well-matched in weight.

Each team produced one good running back, Herbst for Bexley and Henry for the Tigers, but the Bexley blockers proved more efficient than those of Circleville. Henry's kicking was good despite the water-logged ball while Schumaker, who pulled out from guard to boot for Bexley, likewise did a neat job.

Arledge Best in Line
The Tiger line, with the exception of the left side in the early part of the first period, matched Bexley's. Gene Arledge, who started at guard for the first time this year, won himself a permanent position. He played a neat game proving a stonewall in the middle of the line. Ray Adkins went out with a cut thumb in the final session, and Henry took several nasty bumps.

The game was played in a steady rain that had the field soaked. The white-jerseyed Tigers and blue-sweatered Bexleyites could hardly be identified when the game ended. There was little fumbling despite the water.

The Tigers have never defeated Bexley on the football field since the Central Buckeye league was started back in 1930.

Marysville Next
Next week the locals are scheduled to play at Marysville.

HE'S THE CAPTAIN

FRANK MAUTTE

Fordham
PROBABLY some of Frank Mautte's fighting ability on the gridiron can be traced to the Fordham captain's grandpappy. Grandfather Mautte fought in the Civil war as a captain.

Frank's fighting takes place from a right halfback position. That fight, plus a speedy get-away gained as a track man, gives him quite a name in eastern circles.

Mautte, a senior at Fordham, hails from New Haven, Conn. He stands six feet one inch and weighs 155 pounds. He attended New Haven high school and Milford Prep. Played football and ran on the track team in both places.

Frank entered Fordham in 1933 as an end. He was shifted to the backfield as a sophomore because of his speed. He failed to make a letter in his sophomore year, but came back last year with a fine display of play. Against Vanderbilt he ran 87 yards. Aided Fordham in tying St. Mary's by catching a pass and running for a touchdown.

Last summer Frank worked as a tutor. His father is a special policeman in Winchester county, New Haven.

Frank's slimmness apparently doesn't affect the young man's ability to take it in a hard-fought game. And as a field general he's topnotch, say his fellow players. Quiet, self-effacing, gritty and always the team man, Frank is looked up to by his gridiron pals.

About This And That In Many Sports

From Here and There

Just when everyone was saying how nice the weather had been for the Lancaster fair it starts to rain and the races are called off — Grandview looks like the CBL champion with a 40 to 6 victory over Marysville — Since Delaware beat the Tigers only 7 to 0, the locals seem to have a chance against Kingsmore's boys, if they play in the Union county metropolis next Friday — It seems folly to this column to try a quick kick on a fourth down, especially on a muddy field — The Tigers had one blocked Friday — Bexley didn't toss a single pass in the muddy going; the Tigers were unsuccessful although several were mighty close ***

Mud Would Hurt Ohio

If it's muddy in Chicago today, Ohio State may suffer in its fray against Northwestern — Thank goodness someone other than Grant Ward is broadcasting the Ohio game — Ted Husing is on the CBS mike, and it's a pleasure after hearing "Mushy" Ward in his efforts — He puts out plenty of football, but how? ***

Tubby Wooster's Victim

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS: Tubby Vierehome's Dalton team lost 0 to 27 to one of the best teams Wooster high school has had in years — Chillicothe had very easy going in its game with Holy Rosary, Columbus, the count being 46 to 0 — Akron South won one of the closest games of the year, 2-0, from East — Columbus East and Aquinas played a scoreless draw — These Columbus teams are not so hot this year — Bet Jerry Kingsmore is singing the blues today after falling before Delaware 0 to 6 — Jerry has hysterics when his team is beaten at all, but by a close score like that he probably had the jumping jitters — Kingsmore can throw more vile words at his players per square yard than any coach we know ***

MIAMI - DAYTON IN BAA CONTEST OF IMPORTANCE

COLUMBUS, Oct. 17—(UP)—

Favorites for the Buckeye and Ohio conference crowns will emerge from two battles which featured a 18 game program for state teams today.

The crucial conference contests were scheduled between the University of Dayton and Miami at Oxford; and Muskingum and Heidelberg at Tiffin.

Miami has been classed as the "mystery team" of the Buckeye and its probable place in the conference race will be dependent upon the outcome of today's game. A victory would elevate Coach Frank Wilton's eleven to the post of favorite.

World Has 36,000,000 Autos

WASHINGTON (UP)—The American Petroleum Institute reports that world registration of motor vehicles totaled 36,000,000 at the end of 1935, of which 26,000,000 or 71 per cent, were in the United States.

Seven Strongest Grid Teams to Face Tests

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(UP)—Seven of the nation's 28 unbeaten and United football eleven face championship consideration today as they squared off against opponents also boasting unblemished records.

These seven games, headlining tiffs, pit Navy vs. Yale, Army vs. Southern California vs. Washington State, Holy Cross vs. Manhattan, Pittsburgh vs. Duquesne and Villanova vs. Western Maryland.

Indiana's hoosiers, also unbeaten, were not needed much chance of coming out of their affray with Nebraska's Cornhuskers unscathed. Temple was undefeated until last night when Carnegie Tech took a 7 to 0 decision. The other 12 teams with clean records play "breathers." They are: Princeton, Minnesota, North Carolina, Fordham, Purdue, Notre Dame, Michigan State, Alabama, St. Mary's, Santa Clara, Texas A. & M. and Marquette.

Minnesota is heavily favored to run its winning streak to 20 as the Gophers engage Michigan's Wolverines in their traditional battle for the "Little Brown Jug" at Indianapolis, and Princeton is not expected to have much trouble in their encounter with Penn at Philadelphia.

The Dixie tilt between Duke and Georgia Tech is the real outstanding game on the Program with the winner favored to go through the season unbeaten and make a strong bid for a Rose Bowl berth. Neither have been scored on this year, and the Golden Tornado has rolled up 147 points in three games while Duke has totaled 65 in halting four formidable teams—Davidson, Colgate, South Carolina and Clemson.

The east's big game is between Navy and Yale with the Elis slight favorite. The Manhattan-Holy Cross game also shapes up as a tooth and toenail battle.

On the Pacific coast Southern California, making a strong bid for national honors, is a heavy favorite to score its fourth victory of the year by trampling Washington state.

BUCKEYES' EDGE IS 6 TO 5 FOR WILDCAT BATTLE

DYCHE STADIUM, Evanston, Ill., Oct. 17—(UP)—Ohio State's scarlet-sweatered Buckeyes, co-defenders of the Big Ten title with Minnesota, battled Northwestern's Wildcates in today's outstanding western conference game before 40,000.

For the first time since Francis Schmidt assumed the coaching helm at Ohio State, the Buckeyes' heralded razzle-dazzle attack will be on the spot. Last week Pittsburgh's stout defense smothered the Buckeyes' hocus-pocus and Ohio State failed to score for the first time in three years under Coach Schmidt. With a record of having only four yards made on them from scrimmage on running plays in two games, Northwestern's defense seems likely to give Ohio State another tough afternoon.

Northwestern, conqueror of Iowa in its opening game, shares the Big Ten lead with Indiana and Purdue, each with a single victory. The Wildcates' offense will be led by Don Heap, shifty, hard-running halfback who is being touted for all-American honors. Ohio State ruled a 6 to 5 betting favorite.

Here's how easy it is

1. Decide what you want to say in your ad. Then write, leaving out unnecessary words.

2. CALL 782 if you have a phone or drop by the service desk, Herald office. Read your ad to the ad-taker. She will help you with it, perhaps shorten it, and then will read it back to you for O. K.

3. That's all... except to sit back and wait for results which won't be long in coming because nearly everyone reads the Herald Classified Ads.

JUDGE ADVISES MEN TO NEVER FIGHT WOMEN

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Judge Thomas J. Malloy believes a man "should always run when woman resorts to physical violence," and that "the Creator never intended that she should resort to mere physical strength to conquer man."

He made this decision in an assault case brought by Mrs. Theodore Romanik against Henry M. Raineault, neighbors.

An argument at first involved Mrs. Raineault and Mrs. Romanik, and later Raineault tried to settle affairs. He was rapped on the head with a hoe and kicked on the shins. Raineault retaliated, by holding Mrs. Raineault's wrists.

Both sued for damages. Raineault was awarded $15, and Judge Malloy admonished:

"The women in this case should remain on their own sides of the fence, and above all, let them keep their tongues quiet and where they belong."

If you know what arrangement will benefit an individual, you know his definition of right.

Seven Strongest Grid Teams to Face Tests

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(UP)—Seven of the nation's 28 unbeaten and United football eleven face championship consideration today as they squared off against opponents also boasting unblemished records.

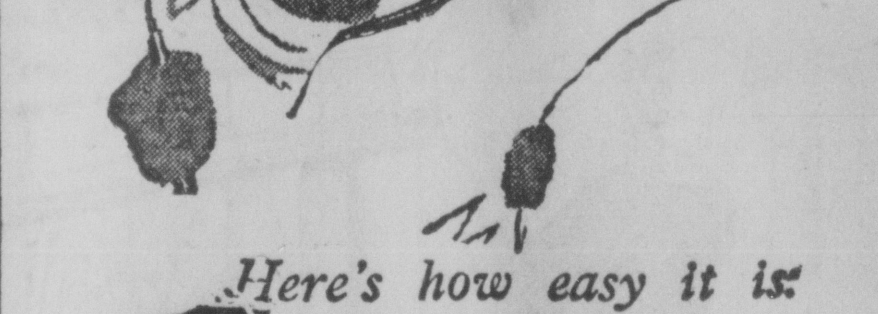

These seven games, headlining tilts, pit Navy vs. Yale, Army vs. Southern California vs. Washington State, Holy Cross vs. Manhattan State, Pittsburgh vs. Duquesne and Villanova vs. Western Maryland. Indiana's hoosiers, also unbeaten, were not entered much chance of coming out of their affray with Nebraska's Cornhuskers unscathed. Temple was undefeated until last night when Carnegie Tech took a 7 to 0 decision. The other 12 teams with clean records play "breathers." They are: Princeton, Minnesota, North Carolina, Fordham, Purdue, Notre Dame, Michigan State, Alabama, St. Mary's, Santa Clara, Texas A. & M. and Marquette.

Minnesota is heavily favored to run its winning streak to 20 as the Gophers engage Michigan's Wolverines in their traditional battle for the "Little Brown Jug" at Indianapolis, and Princeton is not expected to have much trouble in their encounter with Penn at Philadelphia.

OAK HILL DOG AHEAD IN LAST DAY OF EVENTS

JUDGE ADVISES MEN TO NEVER FIGHT WOMEN

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — Judge Thomas J. Malloy believes a man "should always run when woman resorts to physical violence," and that "the Creator never intended that she should resort to mere physical strength to conquer man."

He made this decision in an assault case brought by Mrs. Theodore Romanik against Henry M. Rainault, neighbors. An argument at first involved Mrs. Rainault and Mrs. Romanik, and later Rainault tried to settle affairs. He was rapped on the head with a hoe and kicked on the shins. Rainault retaliated, by holding Mrs. Rainault's wrists. Both sued for damages. Rainault was awarded $15, and Judge Malloy admonished:

"The women in this case should remain on their own sides of the fence, and above all, let them keep their tongues quite and where they belong."

If you know what arrangement will benefit an individual, you know his definition of right.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

NORTH LOSES HIS BET

East played the lead at 6-Diamonds. As is briefly sketched below, he fulfilled his contract, losing only a single spade trick. North bet that had his partner led a trump when in with his J of spades, instead of leading a second round of clubs, the contract would have been defeated. Is this so?

Hand:

North: ♠ K Q 10 9, ♥ Q 9 4, ♦ 6 5 2, ♣ 6 4 3

South: ♠ A 7 6 2, ♥ A K Q, ♦ A K, ♣ A K

How bidding went is unimportant. First we will see how declarer fulfilled his generous contract.

The opening lead was the Q of clubs. East won with his false-carded Ace. Cunningly declarer led a low spade, which South won with his J, and led back the 10 of clubs, the bottom of his sequence. Declarer led the Ace of spades. Dummy ruffed a spade with its lowest trump. The Ace of hearts was taken. Declarer ruffed a low heart. At the eighth trick dummy's J of diamonds was used to ruff declarer's last spade. Declarer led one of dummy's clubs and ruffed. All East held was an established trump suit containing the last four tricks, just fulfilling his contract.

At the eleventh trick lead declarer's last diamond. South must retain his high club, or dummy will let go its lowest heart to win the two last tricks. Retain South's club, and let go his lowest heart. Discard dummy's now useless club, retaining its A-J of hearts. What is North to discard? If he lets go his top spade, the last two tricks will be taken with declarer's spade and dummy's Ace of hearts. If North retains his spade and lets go one of his hearts, dummy will win the next trick with the Ace of hearts and the last trick with its J. North was wrong. The small slam cannot be defeated.

The motorized "Roosevelt-Davey Caravan," being routed to every county in Ohio to present speakers and musical entertainment, will come to Circleville and Pickaway county villages on Wednesday, Oct. 21.

The caravan will be in Circleville at 4:30 and 10 p. m.

Its schedule for the county follows: New Holland, 10 to 10:30 a. m.; Atlanta, 10:45 to 11 a. m.; Williamsport, 11:15 to 12:30 p. m.; Five Points, 1 to 1:15 p. m.; Darbyville, 1:25 to 1:40 p. m.; Commercial Point, 2:05 to 2:30 p. m.; South Bloomfield, 3 to 3:15 p. m. and Ashville, 3:30 to 4 p. m.

To Cover State

During the remaining weeks of the campaign this innovation in present day politics will be presented daily in towns and villages throughout the state, Daniel S. Earhart, chairman of the arrangements committee, announced.

Mr. Earhart, the Democratic candidate for congress-man-at-large for the unexpired term of the late Congressman Charles V. Truax, is devoting his time to assisting in the Roosevelt-Davey Caravan management rather than electioneering in his own behalf.

The caravan expects to cover about 10,000 miles and contact 400,000 persons. Each caravan will be accompanied by trained technicians who will be in charge of presentation of musical and educational message over modern sound equipment with powerful amplifying apparatus which has a carrying range of several city squares. Each caravan trailer has a portable platform for use by headquarters speakers and officials supervising arrangements. Programs call for three addresses from four to eight minutes.

Mr. Durbin urged re-election of Governor Davey "on his record" and asked that Pickaway county return Clark K. Hunsicker to the legislature as representative "because," he said, "Governor Davey needs men in whom he has the utmost confidence, and Clark K. Hunsicker is one of them."

The speaker congratulated Lawrence Goeller as "one of the best county Democratic chairmen in Ohio."

At the conclusion of Mr. Durbin's address, Hilaire Haacker entertained the assemblage with several accordion selections closing his share of the program with "Happy Days are Here Again."

Congressman Dies, introduced by Mr. Goeller as "an able replacement sent from Washington to substitute for Congressman Hill who was ill," wasted no time in "hopping aboard" the reactionaries seeking to remove President Roosevelt from office.

He started his fiery address with a story describing the course of the nation's politics today. He pictured President Roosevelt as the captain of a ship (the ship of state) that started a difficult voyage, only to have a fire break out on the vessel. "Some of the passengers came to his aid, others locked themselves in their staterooms instead of helping fight the flames. After a bitter struggle the fire was finally extinguished, and those who had hid in their staterooms came out. They viewed the fire's devastation with raised eyebrows and said: 'My, we wouldn't have done it this way.'"

TRIO ARRESTED IN CORN THEFT

Burl Hill and Milton Smallwood Lodged in County Jail

Burl Hill, 42, and Milton Smallwood, 26, both of Maplewood avenue, were sentenced to 30 days in the county jail Saturday by Spuire H. O. Eveland when they pleaded guilty to stealing six bushels of yellow corn valued at $4.80 from Charles Morris, on Route 56.

James Emerine, 16, of Huston street, arrested with the two men, will be given a hearing in juvenile court Monday before Judge C. C. Young.

The trio was arrested early Saturday by Sheriff Charles Radcliff on the road from the old Tarlton road to Stoutsville road. The trio had been chased by Charles Morris, Jr., James Hartman, Gilbert Hedges and Chester Valentine previous to their arrest.

A party had been held at the Morris home Friday night, Mr. Morris explained, and when James Hartman and Gilbert Hedges were returning to their homes they noticed sacks of corn had been placed along the road at the Morris corn field.

They notified the Morris about the corn and Sheriff Radcliff was called. The four men concealed themselves and obtained the license number of the car used by the trio.

Mr. Morris said the men loaded four sacks of corn into the car on Route 159 then drove around to Route 56 to load six more. He said Chester Valentine fired a pistol into the air and frightened them before they obtained the six sacks.

During the auto chase Morris said the corn was thrown out of the car and they figured it was useless to continue their chase as they had not heard from the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Radcliff, however, had parked near the intersection of Route 56 and the old Tarlton road and was waiting for the car to appear.

Union street. It was sponsored by the Democratic Women's Club.

Mrs. D. K. Marlowe of Coshocton, member of the state and national speakers' bureau, discussed the issues for a brief time, and Lawrence Johnson demonstrated the proper voting method.

The entire group went to the major meeting at the conclusion of the program.

CHANDLER TO SPEAK

COLUMBUS, Oct. 17 (UP) — Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, will address a Democratic rally to be held here tonight along with Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio.

Three Lives Known Lost With Valuable Timber Land in Flames

ening the lives of George and Ross Berlin and Mrs. M. E. Church and her nine-year-old daughter. There was no way to get to them and no way for them to get out, firefighters reported.

The fires started Thursday night, yesterday and today as freak windstorms, accompanied by dry, sultry weather fanned sparks into spreading blazes. If present weather conditions continue, rangers said, new fires could be expected hourly.

Communications End

Communications were disrupted in the central Sierra Nevada, hampering efforts of forest rangers to determine extent of damage, centers of the worst blazes and possible new deaths.

The Placer county blaze raged out-of-hand as fire fighters abandoned efforts to check it in the face of a strong gale. Iowa Hill and Forest Hill were reported on the verge of destruction there.

Seven fires roared over 25,000 acres in the mountain slopes of the San Joaquin valley. A 35-mile-an-hour gale hampered 1,200 fighters, recruited from Fresno, Madera, Mariposa and Tuolumne counties. Several cabin colonies were destroyed and vacationers fled, some leaving their possessions behind them.

In Mariposa county the settlements of Indian Lodge and Pine Grove lay directly in the path of an onrushing fire which destroyed 5,000 acres of valuable timber and pastureland.

Other fires were burning along Big Creek in Tuolumne county.

Ten million feet of first grade timber, two trucks and several tractors and tramways of the Westside Lumber company were razed near Sonora at a loss of approximately $350,000. Several firemen surrounded by flames in lumber piles were forced to run for their lives. Blazes jumped 100 feet into the air at the height of the destruction.

Yesterday the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Smith was burned to death when fire burned their tent home. In Colusa county near Grimes a rancher returned from the fire lines to find his own home destroyed and his mother, Mrs. Amy Ritchey, 59, burned to death. In El Dorado county flames which destroyed a cabin burned Peter Waldeck, 59, fatally.

JOHN DOUGLAS, MT. STERLING, IS FOUND DEAD

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Mt. Sterling for John Douglas, 81, retired business man, whose body was found hanging in a garage Thursday. Burial was in the Mt. Sterling cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Bess; two sons, Larry and Julian; two stepsons, Ivor Clover and Terry Talmadge; a stepdaughter, Mrs. P. G. Hewitt, and two sisters.

The coroner's verdict was suicide.

During the remaining weeks of the campaign this innovation in present day politics will be presented daily in towns and villages throughout the state. Daniel S. Earhart, chairman of the arrangements committee, announced.

Mr. Earhart, the Democratic candidate for congress-man-at-large for the unexpired term of the late Congressman Charles V. Truxax, is devoting his time to assisting in the Roosevelt-Davey Caravan management rather than electioneering in his own behalf.

The caravan expects to cover about 10,000 miles and contact 400,000 persons. Each caravan will be accompanied by trained technicians who will be in charge of presentation of musical and educational message over modern sound equipment with powerful amplifying apparatus which has a carrying range of several city squares. Each caravan trailer has a portable platform for use by headquarters speakers and officials supervising arrangements. Programs call for three addresses from four to eight minutes.

Mr. Durbin urged re-election of Governor Dwyer "on his record" and asked that Pickaway county return Clark K. Hunsicker to the legislature as representative "because," he said, "Governor Dwyer needs men in whom he has the utmost confidence, and Clark K. Hunsicker is one of them."

The speaker congratulated Lawrence Goeller as "one of the best county Democratic chairmen in Ohio."

At the conclusion of Mr. Durbin's address, Hilaire Haacker entertained the assemblage with several accordion selections closing his share of the program with "Happy Days are Here Again."

Congressman Dies, introduced by Mr. Goeller as "an able replacement sent from Washington to substitute for Congressman Hill who was ill," wasted no time in "hopping aboard" the reactionaries seeking to remove President Roosevelt from office.

He started his fiery address with a story describing the course of the nation's politics today. He pictured President Roosevelt as the captain of a ship (the ship of state) that started a difficult voyage, only to have a fire break out on the vessel. "Some of the passengers came to his aid, others locked themselves in their state-rooms instead of helping fight the flames. After a bitter struggle the fire was finally extinguished, and those who had hid in their state-rooms came out. They viewed the fire's devastation with raised eyebrows and said: 'My, we wouldn't have done it this way.'"

James Emerine, 16, of Huston street, arrested with the two men, will be given a hearing in juvenile court Monday before Judge C. C. Young.

The trio was arrested early Saturday by Sheriff Charles Radcliff on the road from the old Tarlton road to Stoutsville road. The trio had been chased by Charles Morris, Jr., James Hartman, Gilbert Hedges and Chester Valentine previous to their arrest.

A party had been held at the Morris home Friday night. Mr. Morris explained, and when James Hartman and Gilbert Hedges were returning to their homes they noticed sacks of corn had been placed along the road at the Morris corn field.

They notified the Morris about the corn and Sheriff Radcliff was called. The four men concealed themselves and obtained the license number of the car used by the trio.

Mr. Morris said the men loaded four sacks of corn into the car on Route 156 then drove around to Route 56 to load six more. He said Chester Valentine fired a pistol into the air and frightened them before they obtained the six sacks.

During the auto chase Morris said the corn was thrown out of the car and they figured it was useless to continue their chase as they had not heard from the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Radcliff, however, had parked near the intersection of Route 56 and the old Tarlton road and was waiting for the car to appear.

Union street. It was sponsored by the Democratic Women's Club.

Mrs. D. K. Marlowe of Coshocton, member of the state and national speakers' bureau, discussed the issues for a brief time, and Lawrence Johnson demonstrated the proper voting method.

The entire group went to the major meeting at the conclusion of the program.

RESIDENTS FLEE WITH 400-MILE AREA IN DANGER

Three Lives Known Lost With Valuable Timber Land in Flames

ening the lives of George and Ross Berlin and Mrs. M. E. Church and her nine-year-old daughter. There was no way to get to them and no way for them to get out, firefighters reported.

The fires started Thursday night, yesterday and today as freak windstorms, accompanied by dry, sultry weather fanned sparks into spreading blazes. If present weather conditions continue, rangers said, new fires could be expected hourly.

Communications End

Communications were disrupted in the central Sierra Nevada, hampering efforts of forest rangers to determine extent of damage, centers of the worst blazes and possible new deaths.

The Placer county blaze raged out-of-hand as fire fighters abandoned efforts to check it in the face of a strong gale. Iowa Hill and Forest Hill were reported on the verge of destruction there.

Seven fires roared over 25,000 acres in the mountain slopes of the San Joaquin valley. A 35-mile-an-hour gale hampered 1,200 fighters, recruited from Fresno, Madera, Mariposa and Tuolumne counties. Several cabin colonies were destroyed and vacationers fled, some leaving their possessions behind them.

In Mariposa county the settlements of Indian Lodge and Pine Grove lay directly in the path of an onrushing fire which destroyed 5,000 acres of valuable timber and pastureland.

Other fires were burning along Big Creek in Tuolumne county. Ten million feet of first grade timber, two trucks and several tractors and tramways of the Westside Lumber company were razed near Sonora at a loss of approximately $350,000. Several firemen surrounded by flames in lumber piles were forced to run for their lives. Blazes jumped 100 feet into the air at the height of the destruction.

Yesterday the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Smith was burned to death when fire burned their tent home. In Colusa county near Grimes a rancher returned from the fire lines to find his own home destroyed and his mother, Mrs. Amy Ritchey, 59, burned to death. In El Dorado county flames which destroyed a cabin burned Peter Waldeck, 59, fatally.
